Childbirth and Brain Injury

By M. STARR

[Are] you expecting a baby soon [or do] you expect to have children [in the] future?

[If] you are, you should know [some]thing about childbirth and [brain] injury. Every day at the [clinic] you will see children over [ten] years old brought in because [they] have not started to talk, or because the school reports say [the] child is reading only second [grade] books when he is in the [fifth] grade. Some are brought in [by] harrassed parents whose [children] are constantly getting [into] trouble. And then there are [those] children whose muscles are [out] of control, their arms and [legs] are flying, making them [practically] useless. Some are brought by the law enforcement agencies on charges of sex offenses, destruction of property, stealing, delinquents of all sorts.

If you are lucky and have good medical attention you probably give a beautiful baby and he will grow up without ever getting into trouble or other difficulties. On the other hand an increasing number of babies are being born with birth injuries. These injuries may be the obvious kind like a cerebral palsy or partial deafness but there are the subtle [kind]. The injury may not be apparent; the child may grow up like any other baby, but when he [reaches] school it may show. The teacher may report him as having poor memory, can't do arithmetic, but good in other subjects.

Many times such brain-injured children are blamed by the teachers as being lazy because they do some subjects well and others poorly. Such children may be noticed because they are very uncooperative, or are always pinching, kicking other kids and being [illegible]. They often are highly distractable, unable to concentrate [or] stick at any task for any length of time. Because of this, they can't sit still and behave in class.

Such children usually are fear[less]. They do not seem to be af[raid] of anything [illegible] disregard danger, [illegible] simply [run] into the street, [illegible] which usually [illegible] or even [illegible] from being killed.

When parents walk into the clinic they usually do not know that their child is brain-injured except, of course, if a gross thing such as cerebral palsy is present. When psychological tests, neurological examinations, and EEG (recording of brain waves) all point to brain damage, the parents are surprised.

Case history, when it is carefully taken, reveals some interesting information: at the time of birth, delivery was very difficult. It might have taken several hours with much laboring. The worst offender seems to be instrument delivery—the MD just clamped a big thing which looks like a pair of pliers onto the baby's head and just pulled. In severe cases, the ears sometimes gets torn off; often the head shape gets to be like a peanut, or pointed like some comic strip character. The baby's skull is very soft at this time and any sort of pressure placed by these giant pliers will distort the skull, often with disastrous results. As the result of brain damage does not become noticeable until several years later, the original cause is forgotten.

Instruments clamped on the baby's head cause damage because blood vessels may break and result in bleeding, or the proper flow of blood may be prevented, causing a temporary lack of oxygen to the brain tissue. Brain damage is not caused every time forceps are used in delivery, but its use brings in the chance of brain injury.

Now, how to have a baby without injuries is the next question. The first thing is to place yourself in the care of a good medical man who will supervise your diet, exercise, etc. so that you will be in top physical condition. However, this is not all. [You] should prepare you psychologically to have the baby so that you are emotionally ready. Unless you are psychologically ready, you will have all sorts of disturbances which will cause difficult delivery.

In such cases you will need a lot of anesthetics and instruments because your body will react unfavorably. If you are emotionally ready, you probably will not need these, and you [can] feel the wonderful experience of giving birth to a baby.

Too often the MD's will not prepare the mothers psychologically for the birth of the baby, mostly because they are not psychologists. It is very important that you find an MD [illegible]

In the meantime, you can read [illegible] excellent books written by MD's who know psychology [illegible] birth. It is difficult to [illegible] which MD is [illegible] perhaps the best way is [illegible] who have had [illegible] and finding from them what [the] MD did while they were under his care, and then comparing this with what good MD's say in the books you read. The [illegible] fees, the looks of his office furniture, the diplomas on his walls, or the make of his car will [not tell] you if he is good.

Good luck to you.

P.S., let me know if you find someone good.

Racial Bias in Canada Hidden, But Serious

Our own problem of discrimination in Canada is more serious [than] most of us realize, I think, [because] of (the) pretence that it [doesn't] exist.

Last week on a day when the [illegible] down south was making [the] blackest headlines, I went [with] a friend to view a lot in a [new] subdivision. The real estate [man] who accompanied us was a[n] affable type. And yet how [easily] and matter-of-factly he [illegible] himself with the evil of [discrimination].

[Your] investment is protected, he said, unwittingly killing [illegible] right there. "No Asiatics [or col]ored people will be allowed [illegible]

[We] can kid ourselves that [we're] free of prejudice or, if not, that the problem is insignificant in comparison with other [countries]. But so long as we've [this] hidden attitude, without the [will] to make our own personal [amends], we're living in the past.

Urge Toronto JCs Support 10th Year Projects

Tomorrow is the date set for the 10th Anniversary of Resettlement in Toronto celebrations sponsored by the Issei-Bu in cooperation with all the JC organizations in Toronto.

The celebrations will begin with the opening of a Japanese food bazaar at 3 p.m. in the Ukrainian hall, 300 Bathurst St., and bingo games will be held between 4 and 5 p.m. Later on in the same day, a concert and anniversary ceremony will be held, starting at 8 p.m.

This program is the first part of the celebrations, a testimonial banquet honoring those who helped JCs during the resettlement, and [illegible] being planned at a later date. It was tentatively decided at the Toronto JCCA meeting last Wednesday to hold this event on Friday, Oct. 19.

Full support to the projects is expected from the entire JC community in Toronto. Total expenses for the two events is an estimated $1,000. To date, donations received total $500.

Contributions will be accepted at tomorrow's gathering.

Japanese Consulate Work Increasing in Toronto

It was June, 1954, when the first Japanese Consulate opened in Toronto.

Since that time, several Japanese firms have opened branches here, the first being the Bank of Tokyo. In early 1955, Daiichi Bussan, Nichimen, Marubeni and [illegible] companies opened offices, joined this year by JETRO (Japanese Trade Centre). With these new branches, the market for Japanese goods was extensively expanded.

Within the two years and three months since its opening, the consulate has handled 470 visas to Japan. Vice-consul E. Uchida pointed out that applications for renunciation of Japanese citizenship had notably increased in the past year. They receive an average of 15 to 20 each month.

In addition to this, they receive daily the death notices of Issei, but no longer receive birth [notices] for Nisei or Sansei.

Consul Kenzo Yoshida and family will leave Toronto for Japan at 11:10 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 29, on TCA flight #7.

Japanese Skipper Says Many Ships Avoiding Suez Canal Troubles

[MONTREAL] — Many ships [illegible] the world's maritime [illegible] are avoiding the Suez Canal since its seizure by Egypt, a [illegible] Japanese [illegible] said recently.

Capt. T. Tsubouchi, of the [illegible] Taian Maru, only Japanese ship to call at Montreal this season, said he had rounded the Cape of Good Hope to avoid possible trouble at the canal on his voyage here.

He added that "many ships are [not] using the canal during the [dispute]. All the experienced British pilots are leaving, ships are being tied up, it is cheaper and less of a headache to avoid the canal," the captain said.

"Canal fees are heavy," he explained. "It would cost my ships from $8,000 to $9,000 to use the waterway, besides running the risk of being held up. Just to stand still costs us $2,000 a day.

"When this trouble started, I contacted my owners for permission to round the cape, to which they agreed. Although it took two days extra, we probably saved about $2,600 and a good deal of trouble."

Capt. Tsubouchi, who has spent 30 years at sea, is senior captain of the "K" Line, which has a fleet of 80 merchant ships operating out of Kobe, Japan. The Taian Maru, a new 14-16 knot ship, brought a 9,200-ton cargo of raw sugar from Madagascar in the Indian Ocean.

The captain is married, has two sons attending Kyoto University and a married daughter who has presented him with a grandson. He has not been home since April and does not expect to return until next month. From here he will go to Hampton Roads, Va., for a cargo of coal destined for Japan.

It is his first time in Montreal, and though he said it was a fine city, the weather differed vastly from the warm spring he left behind in Japan, with the cherry trees blossoming.

A bird fancier, Capt. Tsubouchi has a large cage containing four brightly-colored chirping budgies in his cabin. He said other officers and crewmen keep pet birds on board.

"It is a little touch of home," he remarked.

Of Childhood Friendships . . .

Childhood friendships should never be renewed. They should be put away forever along with one's old dreams, old hopes and old playthings.

A few weeks ago, circumstances forced me to renew a childhood friendship. Fifteen years is a long time and this particular childhood friendship had become a kind of habit, unnurtured save for the yearly Christmas card, the annual birthday greeting and the occasional brief note in answer to one as brief, neither heart-warming nor nostalgic. Frankly, the friendship had deteriorated into something of a duty like a yearly Christmas gift to an old acquaintance.

And to suddenly see the woman, to live in close and constant association with her for two weeks, was for me a most demoralizing experience, a mental battle, torn between loyalty to a memory and loyalty to the person I have now become.

The little girl I once knew had grown up into a woman even as I had grown. But from the very outset she repulsed me. It was not that her regard for me had changed. Her drabness of outlook, her almost self-righteous lack of feminine vanity, her stolid, set manner which brooked no possibility of change—the terrible manner of a frustrated woman who unconsciously turns people away—made me shudder. I could not bridge the gap between us. I tried to be a good host. I made her physically comfortable. I introduced her to my friends. I planned little outings. I groped into the forgotten past for wisps of memories we had shared in the long ago.

She accepted my friends with almost unbearable tolerance, accepting of their friendliness but giving nothing. She trod on my dreams, cutting short my enthusiasms with damning good sense, leaving a sudden chill where there was only a moment before, sunshine and fire.

When it was time for us to say goodbye, she was grateful, she said, for all that I had done for her. She pressed my hand, and my hand went limp. But I heard myself saying, "Do come again." It was a glaring, desperate lie!

I could not say to her, "You have let me down. You have no right to make me feel disloyal to the little girl I once knew. You are not the wide-eyed, blonde-haired girl who sat on high hilltops with me to dream. You have not the courage to climb. You hate your present job. You hate your whole drab, routine existence, but you have not the courage to do anything about it!"

I could not say to her, "I hate you for the terrible wrong you have committed on the little girl I knew and loved. The girl I knew was open-hearted and frank, not the inward, uncommunicative woman you have become. You are all dried up inside, no longer capable of giving love. You make excuses for yourself. You blame your childhood, your father, your narrow world. Your childhood was no more difficult than mine. You failed your father when he needed you most. Yes, you gave him material comforts but you withheld your heart."

I could not say to her, "I cannot be a friend to you. You refuse to let me be a friend. A friend is one who shares one's good fortune as well as one's deep hurts. You stop me in every way. You shut out the whole wide wondrous world with 'Heavens, at my age, I wouldn't think of it!' You believe your world is unchangeable, and you accept it as it is, milling around steeped in deep self-pity."

I could not say these things to her. She would not understand. She believes she is irrevocably right! And so I said, "Do come again," praying all the while that we shall never meet again. How little did I realize, so many years ago, when we swore eternal friendship with all the fervor of a childhood faith, that some day we would meet as strangers, poles apart in outlook and in interests.

Sometimes the little girl I remember peers out of the misty past, to look at me with wistful eyes—the little girl with the blonde curls, the scarlet coat, and the bicycle all her own which she sometimes let me ride; the little friend who stood loyally at my side as we lived through thrashings for stealing apples or skipping school; the little girl who sat with me on high hilltops to dream of great things that were to happen to us.

The little girl I knew so long ago peers at me wistfully—knowing as I do that things will never be quite the same again.

Yes, childhood friendships should never be renewed.

Returnees Learning English Language Avidly

By LEON KOSSAR
In the Toronto Telegram

In the bleak months that followed V-J Day, Atsuko Tatsukawa little dreamed she would ever get close enough to the Western world to learn English.

But now she's leaving no stone unturned to learn English.

And last week the 25-year-old New Canadian was among the first to register for evening classes in English at Harbord Collegiate.

Hundreds of other newcomers filed similar registrations at 10 city schools.

LOST FRIENDS

Atsuko, born in Canada, travelled to Hiroshima with her parents at the age of eight months. Her father still manages a plant nursery outside Hiroshima's city limits.

The family lived in quiet during the war years, and Atsuko's father told the little girl about the Canada he had known. As the months turned into years, Atsuko resolved to see Canada herself one day.

The day before the Hiroshima atom blast petite Atsuko boarded a crowded streetcar in the downtown area. A not-so-nimble and slightly hefty fellow passenger by-passed the useful Oriental politeness by trodding on her foot when the tram lurched ahead.

The next day she stayed home . . . and the nearby city was leveled to the ground in the first lethal A-bomb blast. The war years gave way to a postwar reconstruction era, and Atsuko resumed her dreams to emigrate. She arrived in Canada in May of this year.

FRIEND REGISTERS

Last week Atsuko registered at Harbord Collegiate with another family friend, 16-year-old Kaz Hizaka, also of Hiroshima.

She works as a domestic with an English-speaking family. "I want to learn the language as quickly as I can, and a home where English is spoken is the best way," she explained through an interpreter.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Editor: I wonder if you could help me with a little problem?

Owing to the increase of judo clubs in the Edmonton area a few of the senior grades have formed together to supervise, guide and supply instructors if necessary, to these clubs.

The name of the group we decided would be "The Edmonton Ryoshin-Kai" (or parent organization). But as we only had a conversational dictionary to go on, I thought it best to have the translation checked by you. Would you also, if possible, give us the Japanese characters for the above.

Thanking you for past favors, and congratulating you on your fine paper, I remain

CHATHAM SLANTS

By JACK NISHIZAKI

Chatham

Come ye—Come all, that's what committee-men Roy and Frank are calling, for volunteers to come out to the tomato fields each Sunday. All income goes toward the project of expanding a local YMCA. It's certainly one big moral support (Oh my aching back). Response is good—first week of outing found eleven persons and today we had a good turnout of young and old girls (lady, pardon me)—28 of them out in the field, and what a sight to watch. This is what we call the community spirit. Here's hoping that as long as the harvest is on, more people come out on Sunday, especially the new faces. I do mean you.

Many outstanding Nisei students here in Chatham have gone out-of-town for further study or employment; also, some of them are now employees in local firms. The latest to come out of a local high school is Albert Kudo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kudo of Prince St., winner of an entrance scholarship to the university of Toronto. Albert was awarded the J. P. Bickell Foundation scholarship, possible value, $1200. He will be leaving this week for Toronto to register in applied geology, a four-year honor course. My personal congratulations to you, Albert, and along with me all the Chathamites wish you the best.

Kent Nisei bowling season will go underway come this Friday. After a practice last Friday, you all, you are on the way!

Newcomers we welcome this season are Pat Osaka, Flo Takahashi, and Don Wakabayashi, so-called rookies. Looks like another exciting and interesting winter ahead. Good luck to all you bowlers, and your four new captains, namely, Emy Fujii, Betty Nishi-

一刀齋とアンナ（十四）

五味康祐

たしか、フェンシングは十六世紀中葉から十七世紀にかけて、勇敢な騎士達の生命と名譽を守る唯一の武技として研鑽され發達してきた。イタリーではディグラッシイの理論的剣技が現われ、スペインにカランザが現われ、フェンシングの極意は「剣にて受けざる技である」と道破したエコル・ド・モリエールが現われ、達人アンサー・サンデュイはフランスに剣聖の名をとどめた。今、世界にこういう研鑽と修練と傳統を受けついでフェンシングを習得しているものが何千万という。その中で世界第一位を戦い勝ったカルパンテイである。凡庸の人物であるわけがないし、一刀齋に容器にかえって眼を輝やかしたのもにになしとしないだろう。

構返すがカルパンテイの背が高い。並ぶと一刀齋の頭あたりにカルパンテイの肩があった。タチビルのうすい口を引緊め、顎をひいてカルパンテイはその一刀齋を見つめ、相手が自分に試合を挑んでいるとアンナに聞かされたわけだ。

倉橋がカルパンテイのうすいクチビルがひきつるように笑うのを見たという。突き…き眼が…そう光った…形に…一刀齋…挑戦を…カルパンテイが受けたのである。受ける意味でと右手をさし出した。一刀齋は鐵紙の握手かと、それを握った。優美なフォームに寸鉄人を刺す鋭鋒を秘めた二十七歳の碧眼の青年さ、日本の、醇朴な古風ぶりを守る病妻をかかえた青年一刀齋との試合が、だから五日後に見られるはずであった。

兩人が手をにぎったのを見て拍手したのはむろん倉橋である。彼の歡喜は推察できる。ルールの細目や試合場所の話合いなど一切は彼とアンナとの間で交された。カルパンテイは佛語が語れないし、倉橋は悲しいかな英語の力は駄目だからである。

邦品の販路擴大
訪日者の旅券査證數は四七〇

△トロントに日本領事館が開設されたのは一九五四年六月、それにともなつて日本商社の支店設置や駐在員の派遣も行われてきた。五四年十二月にはまず東銀が駐在員を置き、年明けてから第一物産、日綿、丸紅、飯田および伊藤忠等と有力商社がオフィスを設け、今年になつてからジエトロの日本センターが出來るなどトロント方面における日本品の販路は大いに擴大されるにいたつている。

△さて、領事館開設以來、今日までの二年三ヵ月間、旅券査證數は四七〇件であり、數次有効旅券もあるので實際に訪日者はこれ以上にはるかになろうと内田副領事は次の如き數字を明らかにした。

△一九五四年六月から十二月までのビザ件數八〇

△五五年一月から十二月までで二二二、うち九〇名は觀光團をふくむ日系人。

△五六年一月より現在まで一五八で日系人は三四名。

△ところで内田副領事の語るところによると、領事館が開設された年はそれほどでもなかつたが、昨年から今年にかけて一世の國籍喪失屆、二世の日本國籍離脫屆がぐんと增加し、今日では毎月平均一五、六名から二〇名の離脫申請があるというから、簡事館の事務はますます多忙となりつつあるわけである。

△その上、また一世の死亡屆が次々と送られて來ているがその代り二世又は三世の出生屆を全く見ないことは、日系人が腰を落ちつけてカナダ人になつていることを意味するものであろうとのことである。

松本全權先行し意向打診

鳩山訪ソは難點できるまで一應延期

【東京時事通信】ソ連政府の意向打診のためモスクワへ先行する松本全權は、二十日午後八時十五分羽田發機で出發した。モスクワ到着は二十四日午前零時三十分となる豫定。なお隨員は新關參事官らが殘留している關係から少數に止め、いまのところ高橋條約局次長、廣岡事務官(通譯)および石村電信課員の三名の豫定。

△「鳩山訪ソ」は松本全權を先發打診させることをきめ、一應延期となつた。しかしこれは「鳩山訪ソ」を悲觀的にしたものではなく、むしろ黨内調整の上から主流派がとつた「鳩山訪ソ」までの「つなぎ」とみられている。松本全權は「要するに鳩山さんが訪ソできるような体勢をつくるのが私の任務だ」と語つている。

社黨は倒閣推進

日ソ交渉妥結後の態度決定

社會黨は今週仙台で首腦部會議を開き、鳩山訪ソをめぐる當面の政局に對處する黨の態度を次のように決めた。

一、鳩山内閣は内外ともに行詰り状態にあり、保守政權の役割りは日ソ兩國間の暫定協定の締結にあるというこれまでの方針を再確認し、その前提に立つて日ソ交渉の早期妥結に協力する訪ソ議員團の派遣を行うよう提唱する。しかし暫定協定批准後は既定方針どおり鳩山内閣の退陣を要求し内閣打倒を推進する。

一、鳩山退陣後の政權移動は總選擧を通じて行うよう要求する。

一、保守政權退陣後の政局を擔當し、國民の信頼にこたえるため黨の主体性を確立する。

鳩山首相の訪ソ 來月三日以後

自民黨の大野伴睦氏は今週鳩山首相と會見、日ソ交渉問題につき懇談したが、席上首相は「私はソ回答で十分だと思つているが、廿日松本全權を招いて打合せした。松本全權の打診の報告は二十六、七日ごろこちらに到着しよう。私の出發は飛行機豫約の關係から來月三日以後になるだろう」と述べた。

デスイシムに原子力發電所

【チョーク・リヴァー發】當地よりオタワ河上流二十マイルにあるデス・イシムで今週千四百万弗の原子力發電所の鍬入式がハウ通產相とフロスト首相によつて行われた。兩氏ともデスイシムにおける原子力發電所はカナダの將來を劃する重大な最初の役割を持つものであることを強調した。この式には二十一ヵ國の外交官が出席したが、異色なのはソ連大使と一名の參事官、チェッコ公使が見えたことである。

勞働力餘らず

カナダ現在の勞働力はぎりぎり一杯の狀態である。六月末に學校よりはき出された十四万四千のチーンエ[illegible]の學生のうち十二万が勞働市場にどつと流れ込んだが、それが復校による勞働力のギャップはたやすく補われ今ではあり餘つた勞働力はどこにも見當らないという就職率は今春來の最高を示している。

短刀、ピストルをのんで 右翼人物が續々上京

△日ソ交渉を何んとかしてまとめ上げるためには、日本の小島の一つや二つはソ連に呉れてやつてもよい、というような弱腰が鳩山内閣に見えていると、國粹派のパリパリ連中が短刀やピストルを懐中し、チャンスがあつたら鳩山さんはじめ河野農相ら閣僚をぶつた切るのだ、と續々上京しているという情報で警察では大あわてだということである。

△そのため近頃、鳩山さんや各閣僚の身邊護衛が急にきびしくなり、これらの右翼テロに警官は眼を光らせ東京都下の各警察署は「上京[illegible]危險[illegible]をさぐれ」と[illegible]命令を[illegible]けている。

△右翼團体では、日ソ交渉にあたり、三ヵ條の實行を要求している。一は日本領土の放棄反對、二は日本人の送還、三は北洋上の漁業權。日本には右翼團体が約千あり、そのメンバー約十万。危險視されている團体が六百、うち三十團体は警察が常に警戒している。

小麥積出しで晩市港榮える

今週當市で催された「港の日」記念ランチョン席上、マーラー運輸相は、今後二十年間のうちに日本は英國が過去にそうであつた如く、カナダ小麥の一大得意先になると確信している專門家があると語り、一九四六年にはわずか千七百六十トンの小麥が晩市港から積り出されたものが、昨年は百万トンという多量を送り出しているとなし、更にソ連が今年から三年間にわたり、毎年四十万トンないし五十万トンの小麥を晩市港を通じて買うことになつており、すでに今年の四十万トンは晩市で積取つて送られているなど、極東向けの小麥だけでも晩市港は將來ますます多忙な國際港として明るい期待がかけられていることを指摘した。

ビーシー選擧で野黨は慘敗

【ヴィクトリア發】十九日行われたビーシー州總選擧の結果は、社會信用黨(ソーシャル・クレジット)の壓倒的勝利に歸し、五[illegible]議席のうち三九議席を獲得、解散前勢力より十一議員を更に多くあげた。五ヵ年前、アルバータから勢いを得て育ちはじめたビーシー州のソーシャル・クレジットは當時一人の議員も選び出し得なかつたが、今回の選擧で絶對多數というすばらしい進出を示し、唯一の有効な野黨シーシーエフも四議席を失つて十議員をあげたのみに終り、自由二、勞働獨立一という結果に對し、社信黨ベネット氏は「私は常に大衆は答える、といつている通り、元閣僚ソンマース氏事件をとりあげて散々惡口したにもかかわらず、開票してみるとこの通りの結果となり、しかもソンマース氏は次點者と大きい差で樂勝していることは、社信黨を大衆が支持していることを雄辯に物語るものである」と大喜びである。なお四野黨々首のうち當選したのはシーシーエフ黨のハロルド・ストローン氏(四二)のみで、後は全部落選、唯一の土人議員フランク・カルダー氏も社信黨候補に蹴落された。

劍道を正科に

【東京時事通信】文部省は今週、諮問機關である保健体育審議會に中學の正科に劍道を加え、女子のナギナタ[illegible]戰後學校で禁止された劍道もその後高校以上が復活、中學生にもシナイ競技が許されているので、來年度は劍道も中學の正科に加わる。また戰後禁じられていたナギナタを女子体育の正科として編入しようとするもので、次回の總會で結論を出す豫定で審議會の成行きが注目されている。

スエズ問題 提案の修正へ

【ロンドン發】十八日よりロンドンで開かれている第二次スエズ問題國際會議では英米佛三國が提案した運河使用國團につき審議が行われてきたが、原案に贊成する國が少いので、それを大巾に修正緩和したプランを出し直し、出席十八ヵ國の承認を得ようと努力中である。しかし現在のところ、この案に贊成なのは提案三國のほか六ヵ國で計九ヵ國、スエズ問題は國連へ出せと主張する國など五ヵ國、日本ら四ヵ國はまだ態度をきめておらず、とにかくまちまちで足並がそろつていない。日本代表(西駐英大使、代表代理・黄田多喜夫公使)は今までのところいろいろ質問を發したのみで、態度決定は保留している。この會議について重光外相は「日本の態度は平和的解決の一事につきる」と語つている。

dates and doings

by Margie

The Fujiwara Opera company, as you well may know, was in town this week, and we, along with some two other old jc's (somehow that doesn't sound right), attended the opening night of Madama Butterfly on Monday.

The lead (which is alternated among three Cio-Cio sans) for night was taken by Masako Toda, who had sung the night before on Ed Sullivan's TV show. She had a beautifully controlled and melodic soprano which flitted lightly but with body over Puccini's many Japanese melodies. She was also quite a good actress, and in my opinion, carried the whole production, although she sometimes tended to overdo her part. (Incidentally, couldn't avoid noticing that a robe over the heavy obi makes a most grotesque figure.)

There was a a ripple stir from the JC section of the audience when Vancouver's pride and joy, Sally Nakamura, made his appearance on the scene as Duke Yamadori, the wealthy and spurned suitor of Butterfly.

Linda Nikaido of Toronto took the part of the child, but was given no credits on the program for the first night. One critic mentioned that "the long haircut, apparently a Japanese custom for small boys, confused us slightly in the case of Bernard T. Russell who appeared briefly in the role of Butterfly's son Trouble." I have since been informed that while Japanese boys' hair at that time was worn long, it came down only to the ear level. Another critic asks why the child was a Japanese girl . . . He "must be a blue-eyed, blond boy, otherwise the point is missed." Linda Nikaido definitely looks like a little Japanese girl. Strange.

Pinkerton this time was a handsome one, as compared to the Canadian Opera Festival's stocky version earlier this year. It's quite plausible that a 15-year-old girl could have fallen for him, but she should have seen through his insincerity.

The stage settings for this production seemed to me quite drab and even shabby-looking, which was far from what I expected of a company straight from the exotic orient.

Singing of the opera in two different languages (English and Japanese) was quite as natural to me as Japanese-garbed personages running around singing in Italian. Many times it was hard to remember that they were singing in Japanese; maybe that's because I couldn't understand it.

On to something I understand a little bit better.

Took a look-see at Massey Hall the other night to hear Jazz at the Philharmonic, in spite of the growing notoriety attached to that name. Lately, JATP has become akin to the currently popular and boisterous Rock'n Roll shows, what with the crowd going frantic at every little inane utterance. That night, maybe because I went not expecting too much, I enjoyed the show.

It was divided into six parts. First set was the Oscar Peterson Trio and Jo Jones backing Flip Phillips, Illinois Jacquet and Roy Eldridge—the worst part of the program . . . Illinois and Flip would resort to their horrible honking, causing fans (not jazz-fans) to cheer, probably because it was the only familiar melody they could grasp. I was also quite disappointed in Eldridge, who is capable of better things.

Next, happily, came the Modern Jazz Quartet (but for them, it wouldn't have been worth coming) to offer the quieter side of jazz with, unhappily, only four numbers, before going on to back up tenor-man Stan Getz, alto-man Sonny Stitt, and Dizzy Gillespie of the bent horn.

Stan was a high point with his interpretation of the ballad Little Girl Blues, full of subtle nuances. I prefer his cooler tone to even that of president Lester Young, who gets a little too impersonal at times. Sonny Stitt, a man who is trying to get away from being compared to Charlie Parker the Great for reasons of individuality and originality, made a welcome addition to JATP; and Dizzy as always played his dizzily soaring trumpet with ease and imagination.

Gene Krupa came on next and naturally played Drumboogie which features himself as a thunderous soloist; he and his group played other numbers more quietly than I had expected. . . . Earlier, Jo Jones had taken solo spot with his peculiar humorous type of drumming, and strangely reminded me of Emmett Kelly, the famous clown, way down there in the spotlight (for we were way up in the cheap seats, naturally, and anyways you can hear the music in all corners of Massey Hall).

Next was the OPT soloing with their vigorous drive and improvisations, and the last set featured Ella Fitzgerald.

It was the first time I had ever seen her in person, and I felt that I could have listened all night to her marvellously effortless singing. She had the audience entranced with Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me, and In My Solitude. Then she lightly bebopped along to OPT's special, the Airmail Special.

Program notes say that this is JATP's 17th National Tour, and got its name from playing first at the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles. Norman Granz, the impresario back of this institution, is not only concerned with spreading the word of jazz he's concerned with fighting racial discrimination. "In a number of cities Granz has refused to present a JATP concert before a segregated audience. As a result of Granz' constant pressure, the [illegible] have reversed their own policies." JATP was also the first jazz group to play in Japan in 1953.

The program also has an article entitled "How to Act at a Jazz Concert", and points out for some "that handful of exhibitionists who see fit to spoil the concert for everyone else, both the musicians as well as the rest of the audience."

During the past ten years her Montreal Merry Go Round column has kept the town informed on the latest . . .

Nothing much more to report as far as local activities are concerned. A rumour is in the air about a concert sometime in Nov. If that comes through, it's something young and old can enjoy. . . This is a good time to remind you amateurs to brush up a bit, especially you rock an' roll fans.
